Strong Hands Guiding Tigers

For the complex times confronting baseball, the Tigers can count on firm guidance from John E. Fetzer as owner and Jim Campbell, executive vice-president and general manager.

Part-owner of the club starting in 1956 and sole owner since 1962, Fetzer is a true statesman of the game with membership on the executive council and a strong hand in important inter-league affairs such as television, franchise moves, bonus regulations, pension plans and selection of both league presidents and baseball commissioners.

Campbell's career got its start in 1949 on the minor league level but he has been at Tiger Stadium since 1953 and in his present post since 1962. Named "Executive of the Year" in 1968, he has done important work with a number of varied committees and he is recognized as one of the ablest executives of baseball.

There's a lofty goal for the 1976 Tiger farm system: matching the smashing success of the minor league chain in 1975.

It included a Junior World Series championship for Evansville and a Southern League playoff pennant for Montgomery, the two top units of the player pipeline.

However, Hoot Evers, director of player development, is optimistic about the future after shaping up a four-team operation to speed the progress of prospects to Tiger Stadium.

Pulling back from the brink of disaster, the Evansville Triplets staged a late rush for a division title over Indianapolis by a slim margin; beat Denver in a playoff for the 1975 American Association title; then romped to an easy win over Tidewater of the International League in the Junior World Series.

It was the third pennant in four years as a Tiger minor league pilot for Fred Hatfield, who again will guide the Triplets in 1976.

At Montgomery, the Rebels won their division easily, then polished off Orlando in three straight playoff games under the direction of Les Moss, who also is returning to his post in 1976.

Jim Leyland was selected to manage at Lakeland (Florida State) when Stub Overmire turned to scouting while Joe Lewis was renamed at Bristol of the all-rookie Appalachian League.

BRISTOL (Randolph Field): Fred E. Barr, president; Robert E. Childress, general manager.

As a member of the Major League Scouting Bureau, new in 1974, the Tigers are the beneficiaries of a nation-wide computerized talent hunt which already is considered a success.

More than 60 highly-trained and experienced scouts scour the country for the Bureau, under the direction of Jim Wilson, former big league general manager.

Their information is fed into a sophisticated computer which then transmits its wealth of data to the member clubs.

However, even with all of that information, the Tigers go one step farther — maintaining a staff of eight full-time scouts of their own to evaluate the Bureau reports and follow up with first-hand inspections of their own.

According to Bill Lajoie, the director of player procurement, and Ed Katalinas, coordinator of scouting, the double-check system is vital to success.

New on the Tiger staff this year are Gates Brown, pinch-hitting champion of the American League when he retired last fall, and Frank (Stub) Overmire, who has been a Tiger pitcher, coach, scout and minor league manager in his long career. Brown is based at Tiger Stadium, Overmire at Lakeland, Fla.

Others on the staff are Wayne Blackburn, Portsmouth, Ohio; Jim Miller, San Jose, Calif.; Bob Prentice, Scarborough, Ont.; Frank Skaff, Timonium, Md.; Jack Tighe, Spring Lake, Mich.; and Dick Wiencek, Claremont, Calif.

In addition, the Tigers get aid on clinics and tryout camps from: Reno Bertoia, Windsor; Jim Command and Bob Sullivan, Grand Rapids; Rudy Furchak, Fraser; Herm Kander, Toledo; John Skurski, Detroit; and Warren Stephens, Pontiac.

The new name in Tiger television this year is a familiar one.

After a year of retirement from one of the greatest playing careers in Tiger history, Al Kaline has become a TV commentator, working with George Kell and Don Kremer on selected home games. Larry Osterman continues as Kell's partner on road games.

Kell, former American League star, has been one of the game's top announcers since first on the air for the Tigers in 1959. Osterman, sports director of Station WKZO-TV, Kalamazoo, has been on the Tiger air team since 1967. Kremer, at Station WWJ, Detroit, since 1960, joined Kell in 1975.

Selected games are televised but all games are on radio with Ernie Harwell and Paul Carey.

Harwell, whose air career began in 1940, became a Tiger broadcaster in 1960. Carey, at Station WJR, Detroit, since 1958, has been his partner since 1973.

Station WJR (760) originates the radio play-by-play for the 12th season. Station WWJ-TV (4) is in its second season as key TV outlet. Both are backed by extensive networks covering Tigerland.

Schedule AND Tickets

More than ever, Tiger tickets are the greatest bargain on the Detroit sports scene. Fans who pay $1.50, $2.50, $3.50 and $4.50 for the fun and excitement of big league baseball at Tiger Stadium are paying one-half or less for their tickets as they do for other sports in Detroit.

Box and reserved seats are on sale daily, 9:00-6:00, at the Advance Ticket Office, Michigan and Trumbull; general admission and bleacher seats at the gates before each game.

Special bargain Family Night rates for all Monday night games; head of the family $3.50, others in the family group 50 cents each.

It's Tiger Day now for every Saturday afternoon game, with 50-cent admission for women and girls, boys 14 or under, retirees and youth groups of proper age.

Family Night and Tiger Day tickets on sale in advance — any date, any time, any number. Pick your date and have a fun excursion.

The Tigers make it easy to buy tickets. If you can't get to the Advance Ticket Office, try:

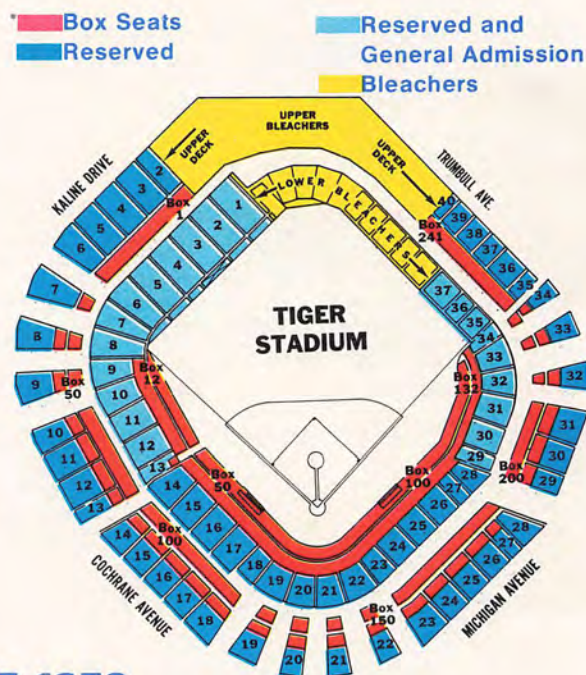

Hudson's Ticket Services, all around the area: Downtown, Northland, Eastland, Westland, Southland, Pontiac, Oakland Mall, Genesee Valley in Flint, Franklin Park in Toledo, Briarwood Mall in Ann Arbor, Woodland Mall in Grand Rapids. If you have a Hudson charge account, order by dialing (313) 223-5100.

Other agencies with tickets for nights, holidays and weekends at Coles Clothes in Battle Creek, Paul's Pipe Shop in Flint, Herpolsheimer's in Grand Rapids, L. H. Field in Jackson, Station WKZO in Kalamazoo, Knapp's in Lansing, Munro's in London, Osmuns in Pontiac, Morleys in Saginaw and Wansbroughs in Windsor.

Mail orders are easiest of all. Send check or money order payable in U.S. currency to: Ticket Dept., Tiger Stadium, Detroit, Mich. 48216. Specify date or dates, number and kind of tickets.

1976 PITCHER PERFORMANCE HANDBOOK

(Eleventh Annual Edition)

Used by major league pitchers to assess their own performances. Why? Here are comments from just a few.

"The HANDBOOK has to be the most detailed, authoritative statistical reference available to both players and fans. I refer to it many times each season. It's a book I know baseball fans will thoroughly enjoy."
—Bert Blyleven, Minnesota Twins

"Competition is what turns me on about baseball. I use statistical data as my means of competitive performance evaluation. My reference is and always will be the HANDBOOK. When it comes to competition, the HANDBOOK has none!"
—Frank Tanana, California Angels

"Baseball-For-Fans has the most informative reference on pitcher performance I have ever read—one that gives both players and fans insight into the real value of a pitcher."
—Vern Ruble, Detroit Tigers

"General managers, scouts, and the players themselves must recognize the HANDBOOK as the authoritative source of pitcher performance statistics. The book put me in touch with my own performance and the specific areas in which improvement is important."
—Jerry Koosman, New York Mets

"Thanks to the HANDBOOK a pitcher can know how effective his pitching really is. The in-depth features are the greatest."

—Ken Brett, New York Yankees

"The HANDBOOK is an eye opening, mind bending reference. Baseball-For-Fans informed enthusiasm provides, at long last, an inside look into major league pitching."
—Bill Lee, Boston Red Sox

"For real inside baseball insight the HANDBOOK is 'the authority.' The inside facts add a new dimension to the understanding and enjoyment of a great sport."
—Al Hrabosky, St. Louis Cardinals

Each edition of the HANDBOOK delivers over 130 pages of vital information on current Major League pitchers . . . Computers are used to "scout" performance . . . The data are converted into informative, provocative features . . . Powerful reports define everything from the pitching "stoppers" on each club to baseball's "hard luck" pitchers . . . From hard hitting comparative performance ratings to analyses of actual pitcher accomplishments, covering over 25 categories of 1975 performance and over 20 categories of lifetime performance . . . The types of pitches thrown by each pitcher . . . Features on starting pitcher consistency and relief pitcher dependability. And many, many more features and facts YOU CAN'T FIND ANYWHERE ELSE.

Price $3. Pocket Size.

Also available. 1976 INSIDERS BASEBALL FACT-BOOK. With 1975 season E.R.A. and won-lost records vs opposing clubs, both home and away. Complete statistics on over 325 pitchers. Price $3.25.

Tigers Push For Success With Fresh, New Forces

In a period of only three years since they came so close to winning the American League championship of 1972, the Tigers have made a turnover of 80 per cent in their playing personnel.

Only eight players from the 1973 spring roster have survived to 1976 as the Tigers push their vigorous drive toward another big winner.

Wide-sweeping trades have brought stars from other teams. A steady flow from the successful farm system has increased the prospects of a bright future.

The next several pages of this Tiger Yearbook presents them all; the men in uniform who hold the key to the Tigers' future.

Joe Schultz

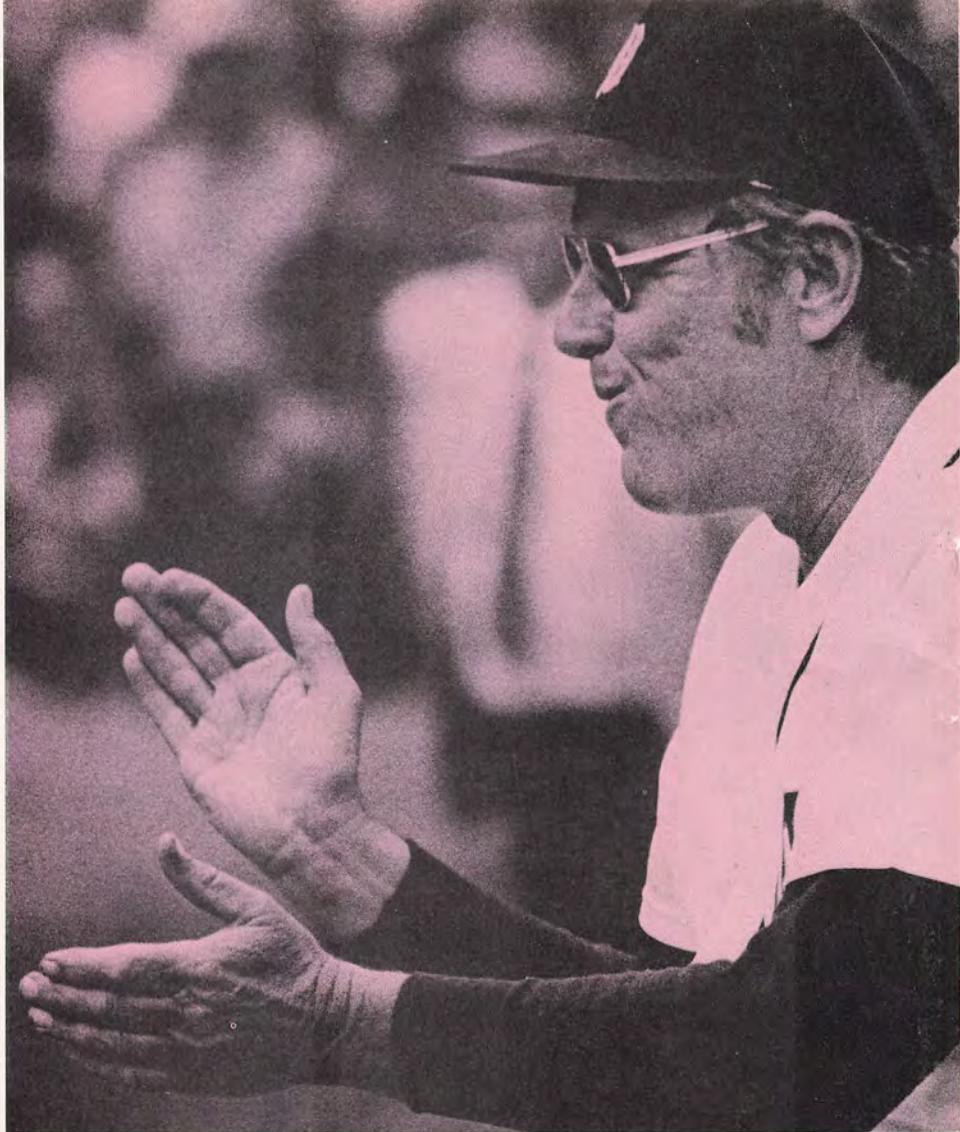

Jim Hegan

Fred Gladding

Dick Tracewski

FIELD STAFF

Houk Ranks With Best

With the biggest turnover of players in his long career, Ralph Houk sees better things for the Tigers in his third season as their manager in a tough transitional time.

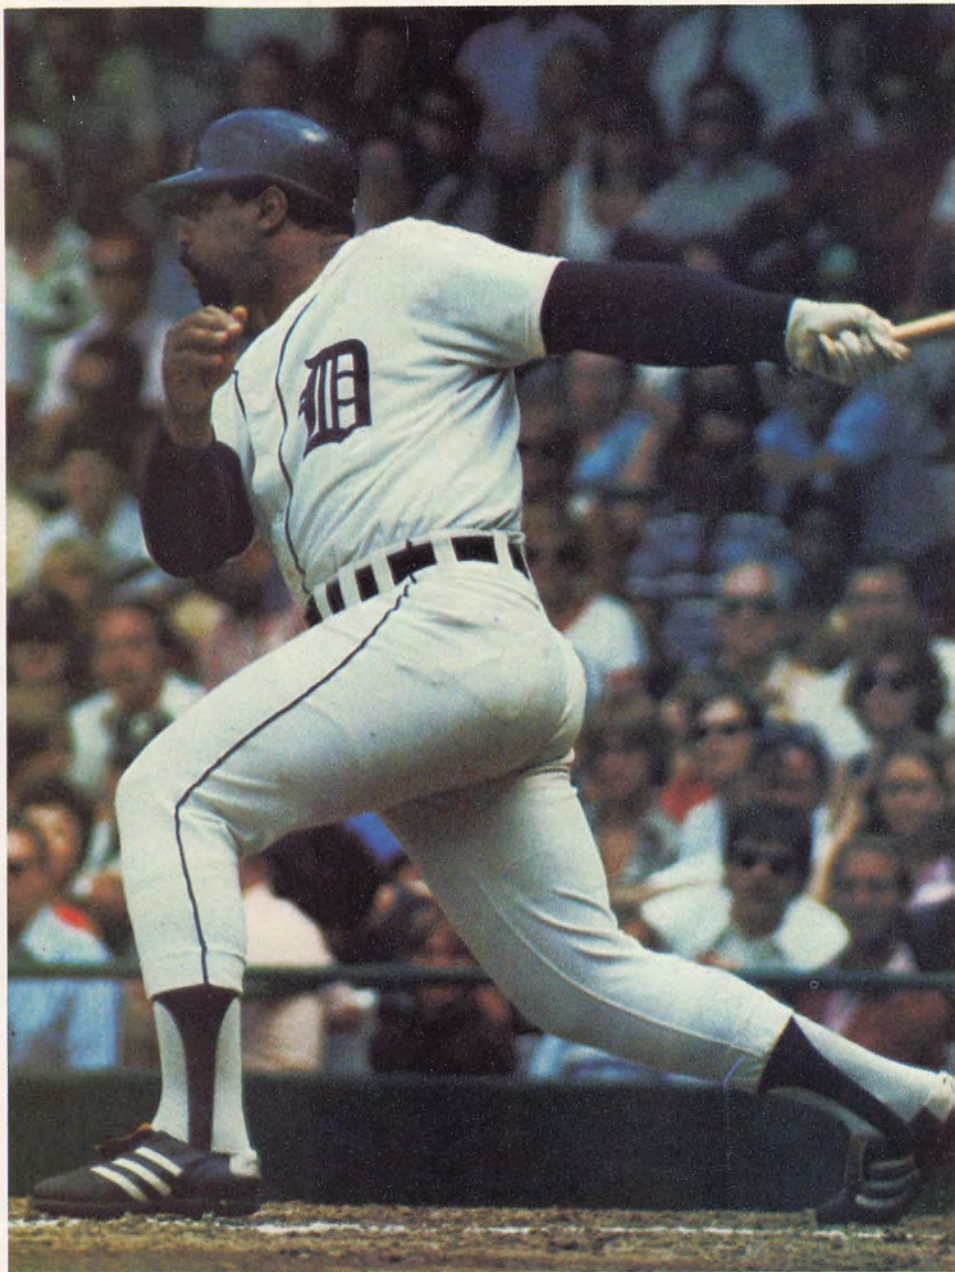

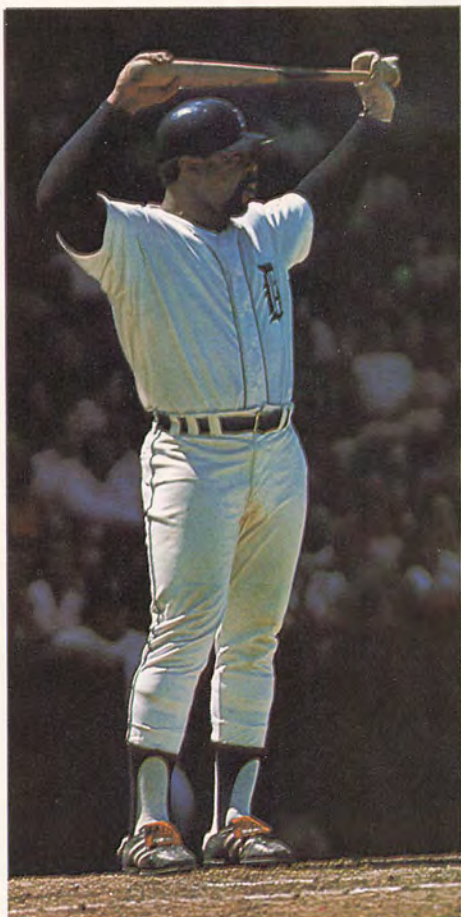

Houk, dean of American League managers, has the credentials to back his optimism, entering 1976 with a 13-year managerial record of 2,077 victories and a winning percentage of .518 to rank high among those with 10 or more seasons since 1900.

His successes also include three pennant winners, two World Champions and two selections as Manager of the Year.

One change was made in Houk's coaching staff for 1976 with Fred Gladding taking over as pitching tutor; a significant selection since the ex-Tiger right-hander handled so many of the club's young prospects as pitching coach at Evansville.

Joe Schultz, in his sixth year, is back at third; Dick Tracewski, in his fifth, is at first base; and Jim Hegan is in the bullpen for the third season.

DH DANDY

Horton Shows How It's Done

The role of designated hitter fits Willie Horton like the skin-tight batting glove on his powerful fist.

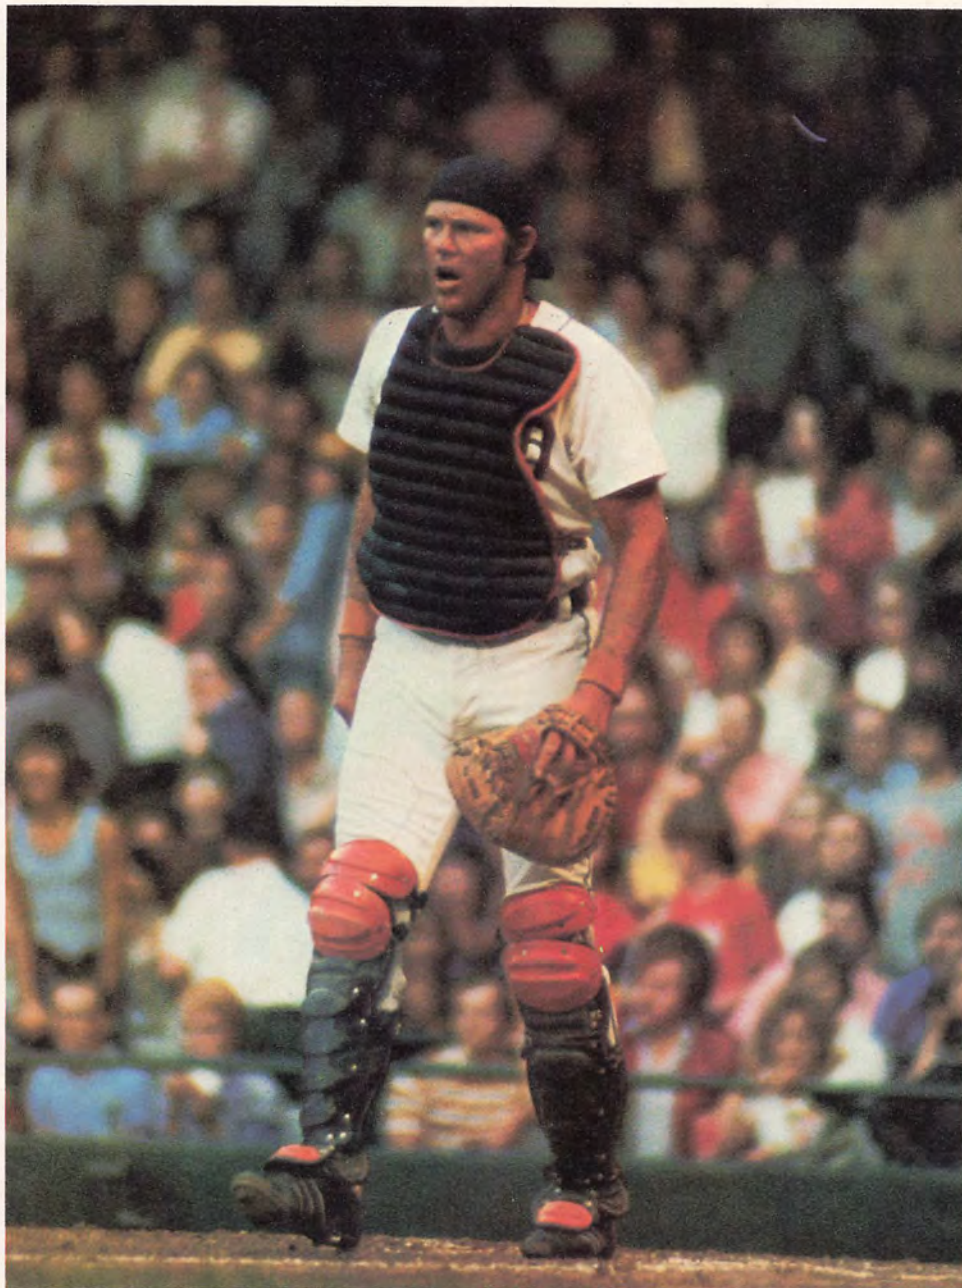

Playing the role for all it was worth in 1975, the Tiger slugger was crowned "Designated Hitter of the Year" by the American League, "Tiger of the Year" by the Detroit Baseball Writers and received a special award at the March of Dimes All-Sports Dinner — honors richly deserved by the hard-working veteran of 13 seasons.

Often plagued by injuries in past seasons, Horton was the only American League player to appear in all of his team's games in 1975 and he set a fiery pace for designated hitters with his 159 games, 615 at-bats, 169 hits, 25 home runs and 92 runs batted in. As a matter of fact, his figures for games played, RBI and total bases (259) set all-time records for designated hitting, now a fixture after a three-year trial.

All of this production and all of these honors followed complete recovery from an off-season operation on his knee, the result of crashing into an outfield wall during the 1974 campaign.

DURABLE

Records Tumble for Freehan

Bill Freehan now has caught more games than any catcher still active in the major leagues and this year he will start moving past some of the most esteemed backstops of the game's history.

The husky Tiger veteran has been behind the plate for 1,520 games, nearly 300 more than his nearest pursuer of the day. If he can add as many as 80 games this season, he will be topped in durability by only eight all-time heroes.

What's more, Freehan has the best of fielding credentials to go with his longevity figures. His totals in chances accepted and putouts are both major league career records and his .994 life-time mark in fielding is an American League record for catchers in more than 1,000 games.

That's how Big Bill won five Gold Gloves during his career and was tapped 11 times for the All-Star Game, including 1975.

At the plate, Freehan ranks among the Top Ten Tigers in four categories — hits, total bases, games played and home runs (with 195 entering 1976.).

STAR STUFF

Staub's Exploits Enchant Fans

When the Tigers acquired Rusty Staub from the New York Mets in an off-season trade involving Mickey Lolich, they added one of the top stars of the National League for the past decade.

The big, handsome redhead with service at Houston, Montreal and New York brought along batting credentials which read: career average of .280 with 197 home runs and 937 runs batted in for 1,837 games. More than that, his strong throwing arm enabled him to lead the league in outfield assists four of the past seven seasons; the last two in a row.

A popular figure wherever he played, Staub was first signed by the Astros in late 1961 — following a fabulous high school career in his native New Orleans — for a bonus reported at $100,000.

At 19, he was a regular with the Astros but traded to Montreal in 1969 to become "Le Grand Orange" to the captivated Expo fans. In 1972, he moved to the Mets and was their 1973 World Series hero with a .423 average.

Selected five straight years (1967-71) for the All-Star Game, Staub is a noted gourmet cook but names golf and stamp-coin collecting as other off-field pursuits.

ON THE SPOT

Coleman Comeback Coming

As the anchor man of their 1976 pitching staff, the Tigers are counting on Joe Coleman to return to the form he showed them in 1971 when he won 20 games and 1973 when he rang up 23 victories.

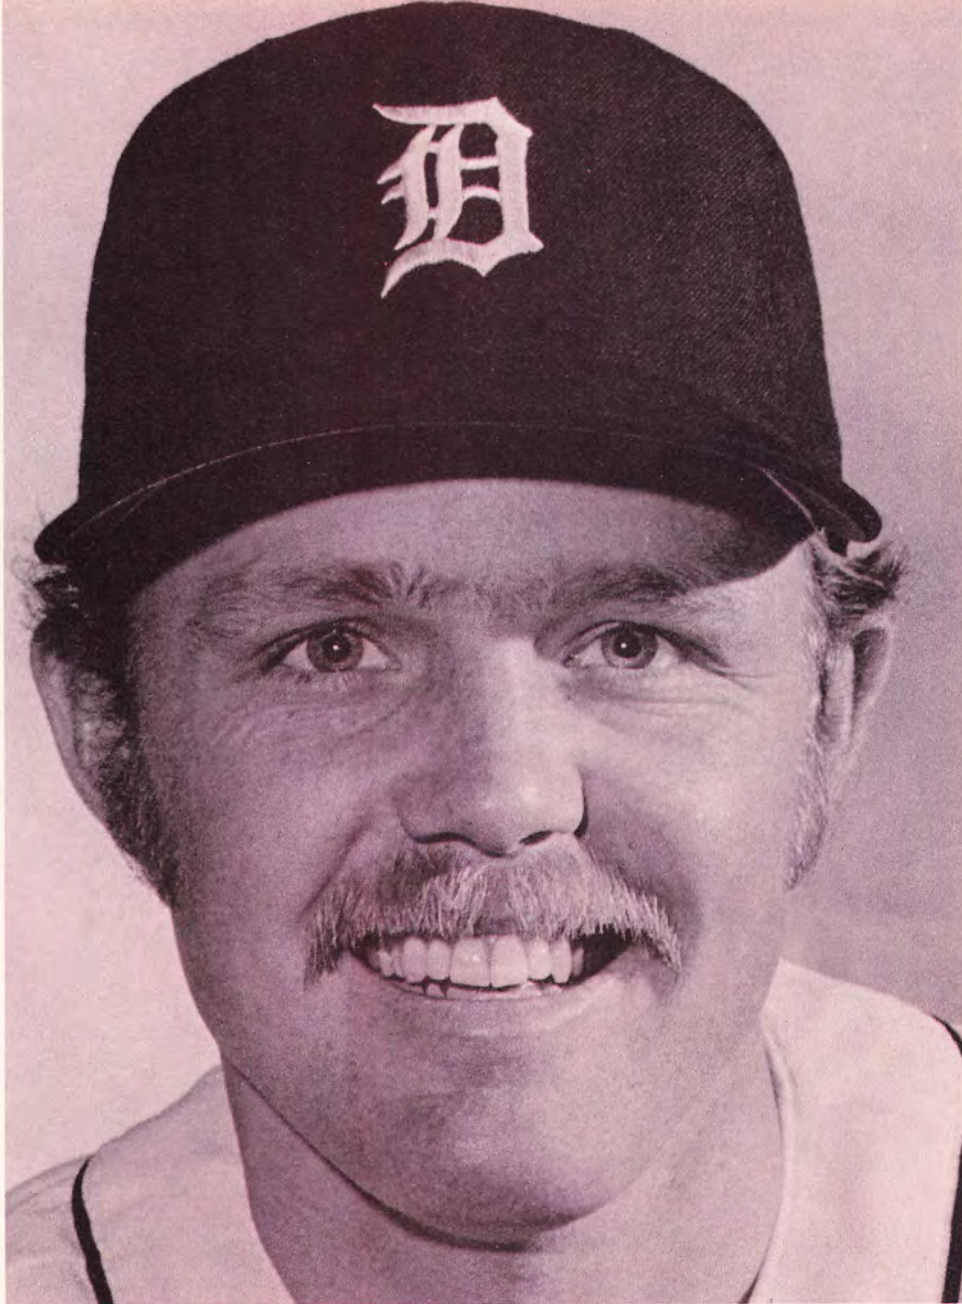

There is reason to believe the 29-year-old righthander can do it because, even in his "down" years of 1974 (14-12) and 1975

(10-18), he had some brilliant performances, including two two-hitters in 1974 and a one-hitter in 1975.

This marks the fifth season in Detroit uniform for Coleman, who was a schoolboy phenom with the Washington Senators back in 1965, when he was the No. 1 selection in the first free agent draft held.

As a Senator, he beat the Tigers eight times without a loss, so they were happy to receive him as part of the celebrated trade involving Denny McLain following the 1970 season. In addition to his 20-game seasons of 1971 and 1973, Coleman came close in 1972 (19-14) and he entered 1976 with an all-time mark of 129-118 despite the "losingest" season of his career in 1975.

YOUNG VET

May Seasoned Beyond His Age

At 25 years of age, Milt May has five major league seasons with the Pirates and Astros to his credit, plus assurance of a place in the history of baseball trivia.

It was his hit, a three-run homer, which last season drove in Bob Watson with the millionth run of the game's history — an event well-publicized and carrying financial rewards for all involved.

Son of Pinky May, a National League infielder of the '40s, the Tigers' new catcher started his career as a third baseman but promptly moved behind the plate to become one of the best receivers in the majors.

Signed in 1968, it took only three years for him to reach the majors as a backup catcher at Pittsburgh. When the Astros offered the pick of their pitching staff for May at the end of the 1973 season, the Bucs tapped Southpaw Jerry Reuss and the deal was closed.

May spent two seasons at Houston, rounding off his career average at .270; came to the Tigers in a seven-man swap which opened the 1975 winter baseball meetings.

HAPPY MAN

Rodriguez Heats Up Bat, Too

Aurelio Rodriguez, the Sunny Senor at third base for the Tigers, has had an impeccable reputation as a fielder ever since his arrival by trade for the 1971 season. But now, it seems, his bat may be about to match his glove work.

In the past two seasons, the nimble infield star has raised his batting average 23 points to reach .245 in 1975, when he hit 13 home runs and drove in 60 runs for his highest total as a Tiger.

The season also was marked by a game-winning grand slam home run off Kansas City's Doug Bird, the first full-house homer in Aurelio's career.

Although playing baseball every winter in his native Mexico, Rodriguez hardly ever misses a game and annually ranks high in the league in games played, at-bats and total hits.

Then there is his fielding, an asset which causes many Tiger fans to hail him as "the best in the game at his position." He makes it seem that easy!

TRAVEL TALE

Home at Last for Roberts?

The record of Dave Roberts, the Tigers' new southpaw, reads like a tourists' itinerary — but it isn't and Roberts hopes he has found a "permanent" home here.

The veteran lefthander now has been the property of six major league clubs but had pitched for only two of them before being traded to the Tigers by the Astros in a seven-man transaction last December.

It all started back in 1963 when Roberts was signed by the Phillies, then claimed on first-year player waivers by the Pirates in 1964.

While still in the Pittsburgh farm system in 1966, he was drafted by the Kansas City A's but turned back before the start of the 1967 season.

When expansion came to the National League in 1970,

Roberts still hadn't reached the majors but was selected by San Diego (from Pittsburgh) in the expansion draft — and has been in the major ever since.

After setting several Padre mound records in two seasons, he was sent to Houston in 1972 and became one of the Astros' mainstays, posting his best record in 1973 when he had 17 victories, including six shutouts.

'BEST SINCE'

Rookie Crown Fits Ruhle Well

Strong statistics support Vern Ruhle's selection as "Tiger Rookie of the Year" in 1975 although the Detroit Sports Broadcasters' vote was close because of competition from Tom Veryzer.

In his first full season, Ruhle became the first Tiger rookie to win more than 10 games (he was 11-12) since Frank Lary came up with a 14-15 mark in 1955. And the last previous before that was Rufe Gentry, 12-14 back in 1944.

Ruhle also led the Tiger staff in shutouts with three and pitched a gem of a two-hitter against Jim Kaat and the White Sox in May, winning 2-0 in 1:35, shortest game in the American League season.

A standout performer at Olivet

College, Ruhle earned a regular job with the Tigers in 1974, his third professional season. He was a 20-game winner that year — with three different clubs.

He started with five straight complete game victories at Montgomery, followed with a 13-5 mark at Evansville and capped it by winning two at Tiger Stadium after a late-season promotion.

PEERS' VOTE

Veryzer Best New Shortstop

The stamp of approval for Tom Veryzer in 1975 was his selection by players, managers and coaches of the American and National Leagues as the best rookie shortstop in the major leagues.

That honor also was vindication for the Tiger high command, which made an early decision to hand the job to the youngster on a full-time basis and trust him to come through.

Although missing four weeks of action with three different injuries, Veryzer staged a strong finish at the plate to clinch his award. From August 10 to the close of the year, he had a .313 average, enabling him to reach .252 for the season.

Honors and injuries are not new to the quiet Tiger. In his first season, he was voted Most Valuable Player of the Appalachian League for 1971. Two years later, he was all-star shortstop of the International League and won the same honor in the American Association in 1974 despite missing a month of play because of broken wrist.

That was the year he reached Tiger Stadium to stay.

HE HITS, TOO

Sutherland Gets in Groove

There is some tendency to evaluate Gary Sutherland, the Tigers' regular second baseman the past two years, on his slick fielding.

That is only part of the story, however. Sutherland's bat has been commanding attention ever since he arrived in 1974 from the Astros in an off-season trade.

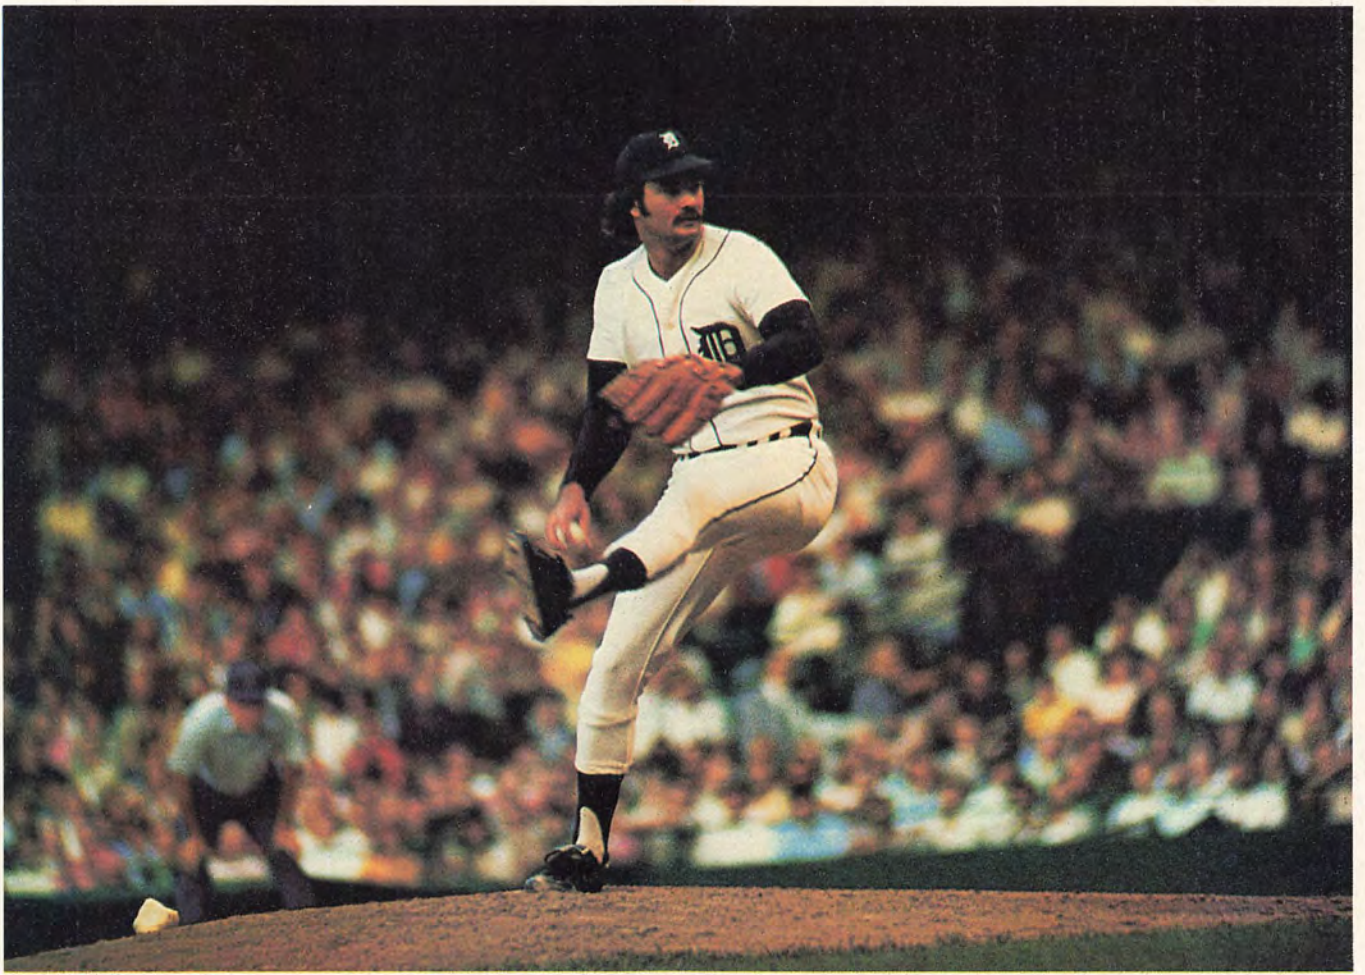

For instance, in 1974, he led the Tigers in at-bats and hits while playing 149 games and had the club's longest hitting streak of the year, a 15-game span. In one game, he banged out two home runs and in another collected four hits.

Last season, when his service was somewhat reduced by illness, he had another two-homer game and finished with six four-baggers for a career high. Against Minnesota and Boston, he was particularly potent, hitting .390 against the Twins and .343 against the Red Sox.

Sutherland had five major league seasons (Phillies, Expos, Astros) under his belt when he came to the Tigers but it was his 1973 record at Denver which interested them most — 114 double plays, only 15 errors in 742 fielding chances and a .294 American Association average.

THE STOPPER

Bare Graduates With Honors

The 1975 season was about to start when the Tigers purchased Ray Bare from the Cardinals, primarily to bolster their bullpen.

The hard-throwing righthander had other ideas, however, moving into the starting rotation early in June and remaining there.

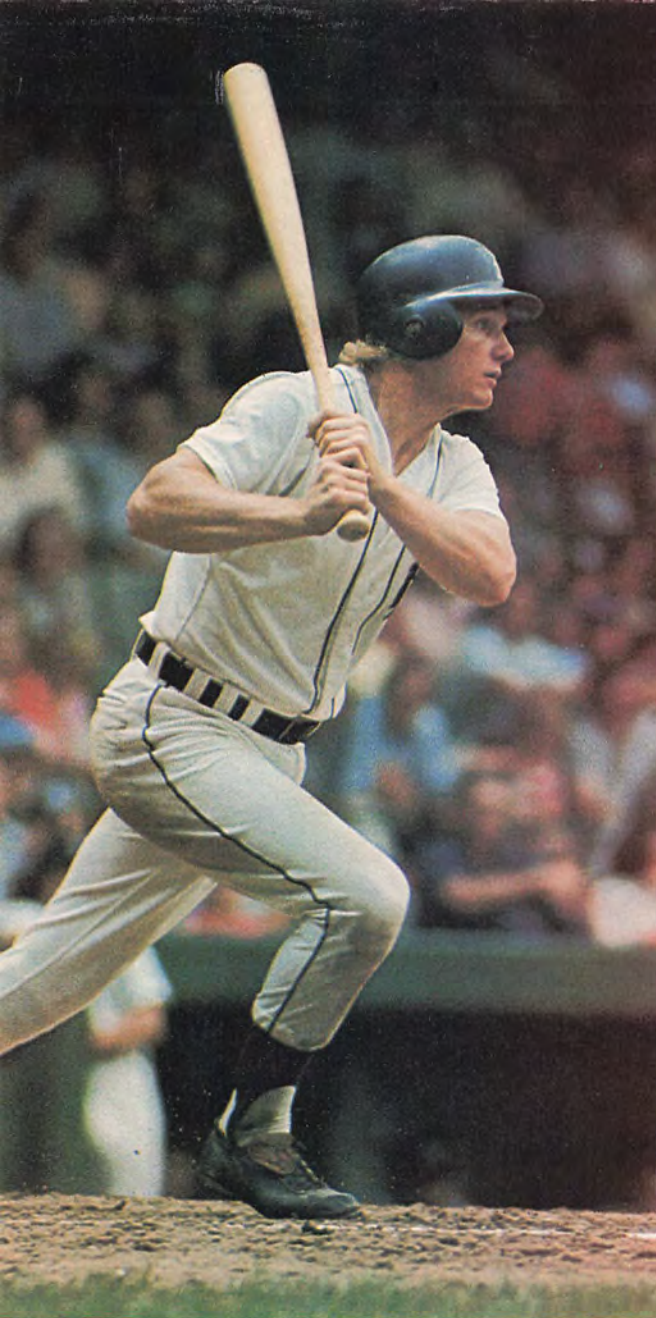

He will be remembered from the 1975 campaign for snapping the Tigers' 19-game losing streak which was claiming national attention and threatening to grow into a major league record. Bare took care of that with a two-hit 8-0 shutout of the Angels at Anaheim August 10.

Bare's Florida prep career was enough to attract attention: one perfect game and three no-hitters for Miami Southwest High School. However, he chose college at Miami-Dade North and it was there the Cardinals found him in 1969.

He had trials with the Cards in 1972 and 1974 but his pitching at Tulsa of the American Association in 1974, especially his league-leading 2.34 earned run average, intrigued the Tigers and led to their decision to buy him.

SWEET SWINGER

Meyer's Bat the Real Thing

Dan Meyer's apprentice season in 1975 convinced the Tigers that the blond belter is authentic as a fine hitter. But it may take longer to determine the position he will play in what promises to be a long and successful career.

There was not much doubt about Meyer's hitting ability from the time he was signed as a No. 4 draft choice in 1972. All he did that year was bat .396 at Bristol of the Appalachian League to lead all batters in baseball, major or minor.

The youngster followed with a .409 in the Florida Instructional League but sagged to .241 at Lakeland in 1973, only to bounce back to .330 in the instructional loop that fall.

Once back on the beam,

Meyer fashioned a .302 at Evansville in 1974 while playing a variety of positions and that led to a late-season trial with the Tigers.

He started 1975 as the regular left-fielder but a hairline break in his left foot took him out of the lineup for a period and he returned to take over at first base the rest of the season.

ULTRA RELIEF

Hiller: You Gotta Have Heart

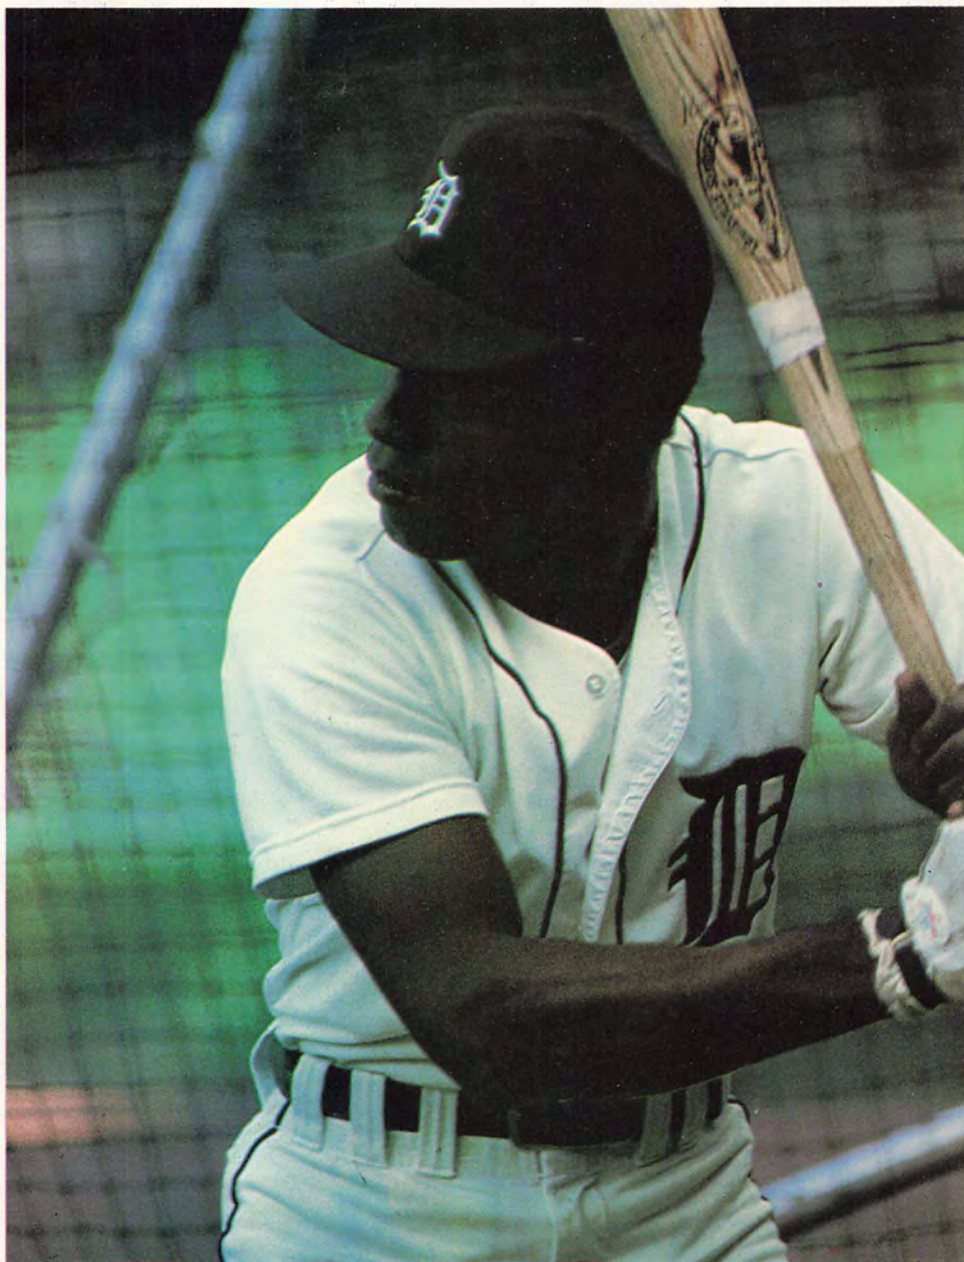

Only an unfortunate arm injury, from which he now reports complete recovery, prevented John Hiller from posting his third successive sensational season in relief in 1975.

Sideline for the season after July 25, Hiller at that point already had claimed 14 saves, one more than the entire year before, with a stingy 2.15 ERA — fitting figures to go with his statistics of 1973 when the Tiger southpaw was "Fireman of the Year" (38 saves and 10 victories in relief) and 1974 when he set an American League record with 17 victories in relief and set a major league standard for decisions (31) by a relief pitcher.

As Hiller dropped from the lineup in July (along with Mickey Stanley, hurt in the same game), so did the Tigers' fortunes sag, emphasizing the value of the rugged Hiller, who overcame a serious heart attack in 1971 to come back stronger than ever. Fittingly, the Philadelphia Sports Writers hailed him during the off-season as "Most Courageous Athlete of the Year." The Tigers second that, with applause!

AN OPPORTUNIST

Oglivie Ready For His Chance

Ben Oglivie saw his chance — and took it — in 1975.

Idling on the bench as a part-time first baseman, sometimes outfielder and frequent pinch hitter-runner, Oglivie became the Tigers' regular left fielder following the All Star recess because of some injuries.

Once installed in the lineup, he promptly became the team's most improved player — batting .303 the rest of the campaign to finish at a respectable .286.

Ironically, he saved his best for Boston, the team which sent him to the Tigers in 1974. He combed Red Sox pitchers for a .367 average and collected three of his nine home runs off them.

Born in Panama, Oglivie grew up in New York City and was Boston's 11th draft choice in a 1968 selection. He reached Fenway Park in 1971 as a reserve outfielder and premier pinch hitter until traded to Detroit.

His 1974 season with the Tigers was notable for 12 stolen bases on 15 attempts and he added 11 more in 1975, all after the All-Star break.

HOME AT LAST

Tigers Welcome Johnson's Bat

The long way around was the route for Alex Johnson, the Detroit signed by the Tigers as a free agent after batting his way through both major league with great success.

A prep teammate of Willie Horton at Northwestern High School, Johnson cast his fortunes with the Phillies in 1962, then played with the Cardinals, Reds, Angels, Indians, Rangers and Yankees before joining the Tigers in the off-season because he wanted to play in his home town and for Manager Ralph Houk.

En route, Johnson became an American League batting champion and a four-time .300 hitter with a lifetime average of .290 for 1,197 games in 12 seasons.

His .312 average at Cincinnati in 1968 made him "Comeback Player of the Year" and he topped that with .315 the following season, only to be traded to the Angels. For them, he became the AL batting king of 1970, nosing out Carl Yastrzemski, .3289 to .3286 in the closest race since 1949.

Recently, Johnson has been mostly a designated hitter and pinch hitter but the Tigers see a place for him in their outfield plans.

VERSATILE

Name It; Stanley Plays It

If there are any who have any doubt about Mickey Stanley's handy andy antics on the diamond, let them reflect on this: the ever-youthful Tiger now has played every position with the exception of pitcher and catcher. He may be the only Tiger in history able to make that claim.

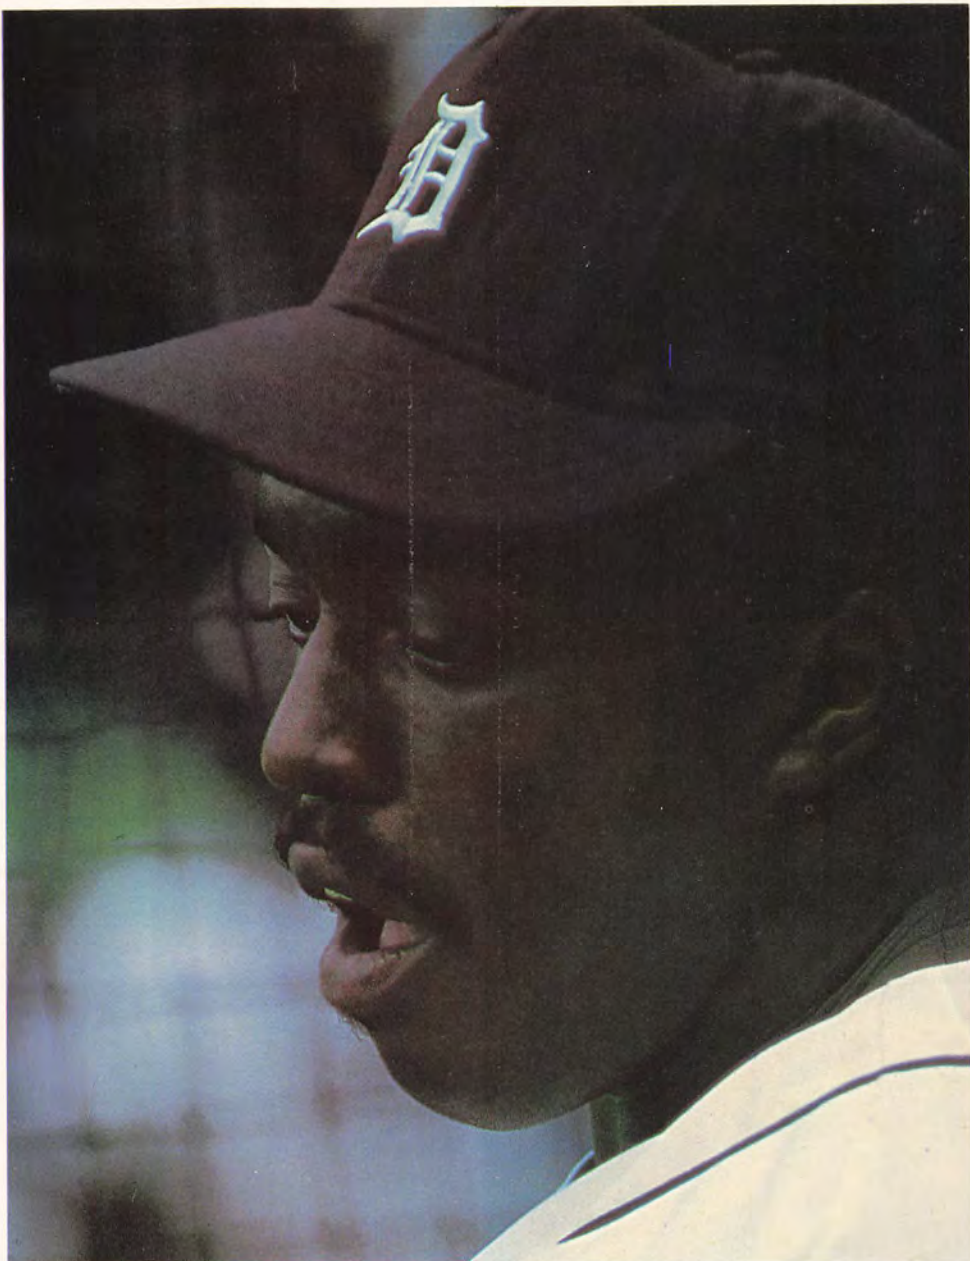

Tiger fans, admirers of his grace and skill in centerfield from the time of his arrival at

Tiger Stadium and somewhat astonished at his success at short-stop in the 1968 World Series, saw Stanley complete his swing around the diamond last summer when he played eight games at third base, a position he had not tried before.

That was before ill-fortune fell, in the form of an injury to his thumb which benched him after July 25 (John Hiller was hurt in the same game); a date which saw the start of the Tigers' dismal decline of 1975.

A broken hand also shortened Stanley's season in 1974 and he's hoping there's no truth in "they happen in threes" because he seeks a chance for another Gold Glove to go with the four he possesses and perhaps improve on his major league career record of .9925 for fielding by an outfielder.

RUN, RON, RUN

LeFlore Reaches Crossroads

The year of decision! That's what 1976 may represent for Ron LeFlore, whose Cinderella story has been one of baseball's most heart-warming episodes.

A Detroit native who never played the game as a youth, LeFlore reached the major leagues in less than two seasons after leaving Southern Michigan Prison on parole in 1973.

In 1974, the speedy outfielder led the Florida State League with a .339 average for 93 games at Lakeland, moved up to Evansville for nine days, then found himself in center field at Tiger Stadium, replacing the injured Mickey Stanley.

In the balance of that season, he batted .260 and stole 23 bases for a three-team grand total of 68 for the season and the most for a Tiger player in a season since 1962.

For that, LeFlore was voted Tiger Rookie of the Year by Detroit Sports Broadcasters.

In 1975, his first full season, LeFlore's average slipped to .258 and his stolen bases total wound up at 28. Not satisfied with those figures, he spent the off-season in Puerto Rico — batting .301 for Mayaguez and landing a place on the All-Star team.

LATE FADE

LaGrow Hunts Strong Finish

What Lerrin LaGrow wants most isn't too much: a good, strong finish this season.

The big righthander, signed by the Tigers after a brilliant college career at Arizona State, can't seem to put two good halves together.

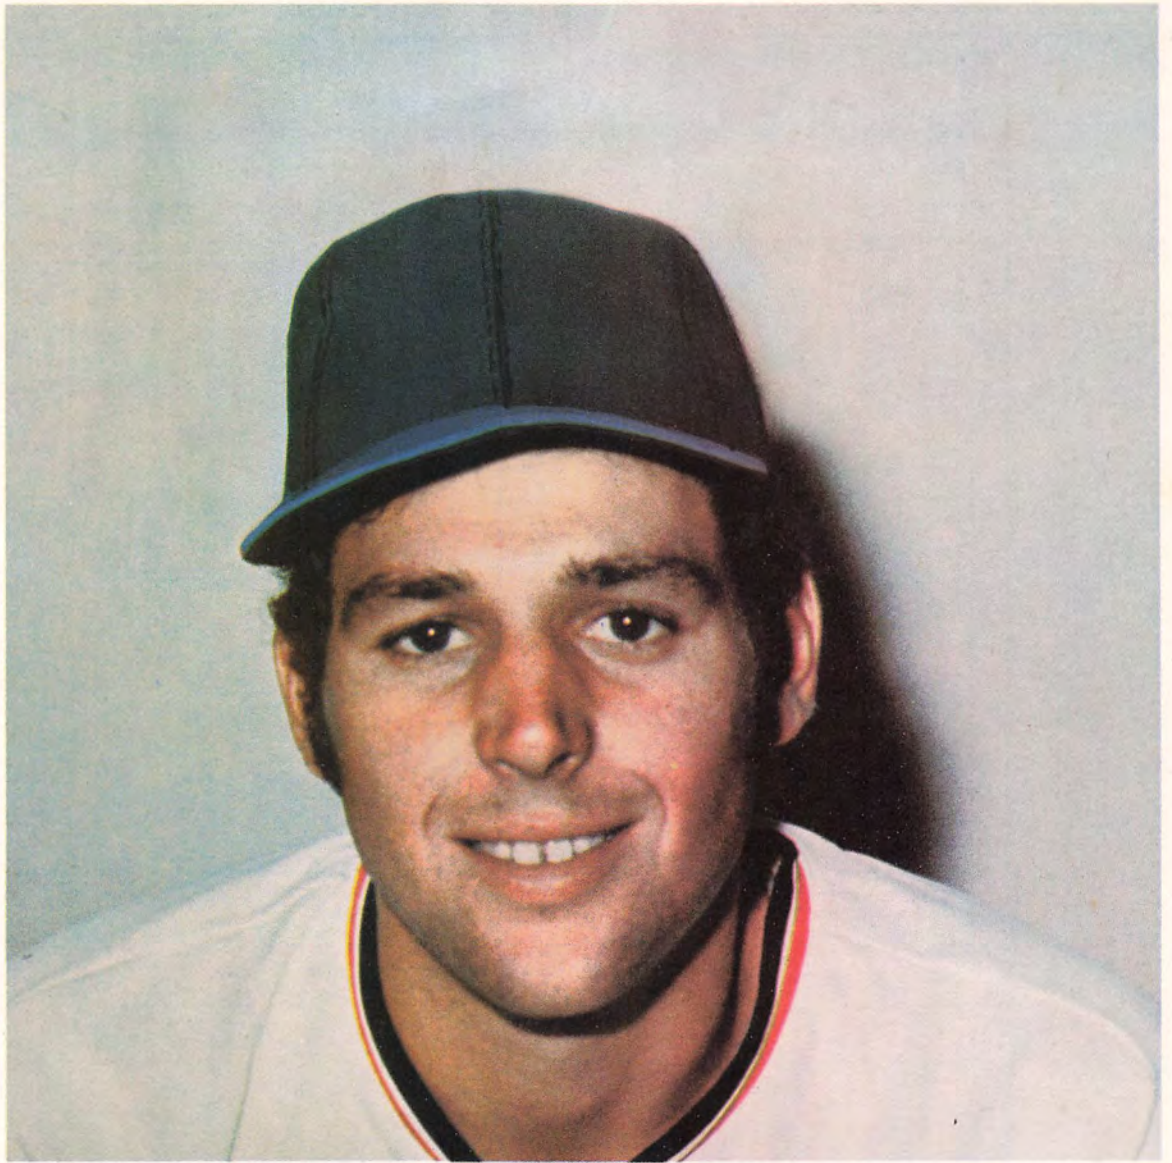

In 1974, as a regular starter, he won only one game after the All-Star break while losing 10 times for an 8-19 season. Last year, it was about the same as he stood 6-3 at All-Star time, then was only 1-6 after that point.

Notable in 1975 were his four-hitter vs. the Yankees in April, shutouts vs. the A's in June and the Royals in July.

Signed in 1969 after compiling a two-year college record of 19-1, LaGrow reached Tiger Stadium in 1970, spent most of 1971-72 in the minors, opened 1973 as the Tigers' No. 1 righthander in the bullpen but was sidelined by a broken wrist. That took him back to the minors but he bounced back to open a fight for regular starting work which is still going on.

RESCUE ACE

Crawford Is True Reliever

Another product of the highly-rated baseball program at Arizona State is Jim Crawford, obtained by the Tigers from the Astros in the 1975-76 off-season to bolster the southpaw section of the bullpen.

Although a starting pitcher in his two minor league seasons, Crawford started only twice while relieving 90 times in his two campaigns at Houston.

Signed off the campus in June, 1972, he made his mark in the all-rookie Appalachian League that year by fanning 123 batters in 85 innings and fashioning an earned run average of 1.59. He spent the entire 1973 season with the Astros, without a start in 48 appearances which resulted in two victories and six saves, but was back in the minors at Denver in 1974, posting an 11-19 mark as a starter.

Once more in the Astros' bullpen in 1975, Crawford drew his only two major league starts but kept busy with 42 relief jobs.

The new Tiger lefty has the unusual distinction of making his off-season home in Alaska.

How to make a young hopeful into a professional player ...or make an armchair devotee even more expert!

BASEBALL THE MAJOR LEAGUE WAY, featuring the Detroit Tigers, gives an inside look at baseball as a career as well as a playing sport. It examines baseball in all its professional aspects—from "How To Be Discovered" and "Making of a Major Leaguer" to the operation of a major league team. Over 390 photographs highlight coverage of the playing aspects of the game—with the fundamentals of playing every position explained in detail.

"It isn't often that baseball publications make available to the public explanations of behind-the-scenes operations of a major league team and descriptions of the player's skills which make the game so interesting and exciting. BASEBALL THE MAJOR LEAGUE WAY does it all!"

Jim Campbell
General Manager, Detroit Tigers

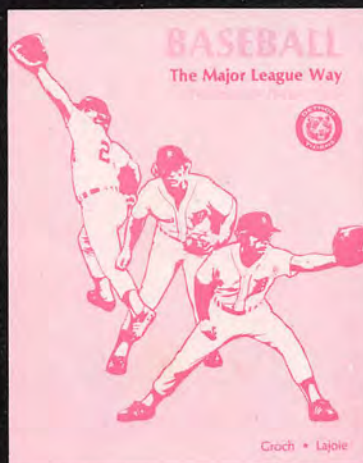

THE AUTHORS:

Dick Groch, baseball coach and professor of physical education at St. Clair County Community College, has a 260-106 winning record for twelve years as a junior college baseball coach. Twenty-nine of his former players have gone on to sign professional contracts.

The Tigers' own Bill Lajoie, now Director of Player Procurement, has been in professional baseball for 21 years—10 years as a professional player (5 times on the major league rosters), 2 years as a minor league manager, 7 years as a scout (discovered and signed Bernie Carbo, Ron Lefore, Vern Ruhle, Art James, and Leon Roberts), and 2 years in his present position.

TARGET TRUE

Laxton On Beam at Last

A new delivery, eliminating his windup and improving his control, gave Bill Laxton his third chance in the majors when the Tigers got him from the Mets in the Rusty Staub-Mickey Lolich off-season swap.

Strong of arm but usually wild, the southpaw slinger found success in 1975 at Tidewater of the International League, walking only 56 batters while fanning 113 in 130 innings en route to an 11-4 record with a 2.49 ERA.

Although originally signed by the Pirates, Laxton's major league experience has been with the Phillies and Padres. It took five seasons for him to reach Philadelphia for a two-game trial in 1970, after which he was picked by the Padres in the expansion draft.

He spent 1971 and 1974 at San Diego but the two years in between found Laxton back in the minors. Released by the Padres before the start of the 1975 season, the southpaw was snapped up by the Mets for their Tidewater farm club, where his no-windup delivery brought success.

BIG STICK

Kemp High Man for Tigers

In the case of young Steve Kemp — he knew what he wanted and the Tigers are going to give him the chance.

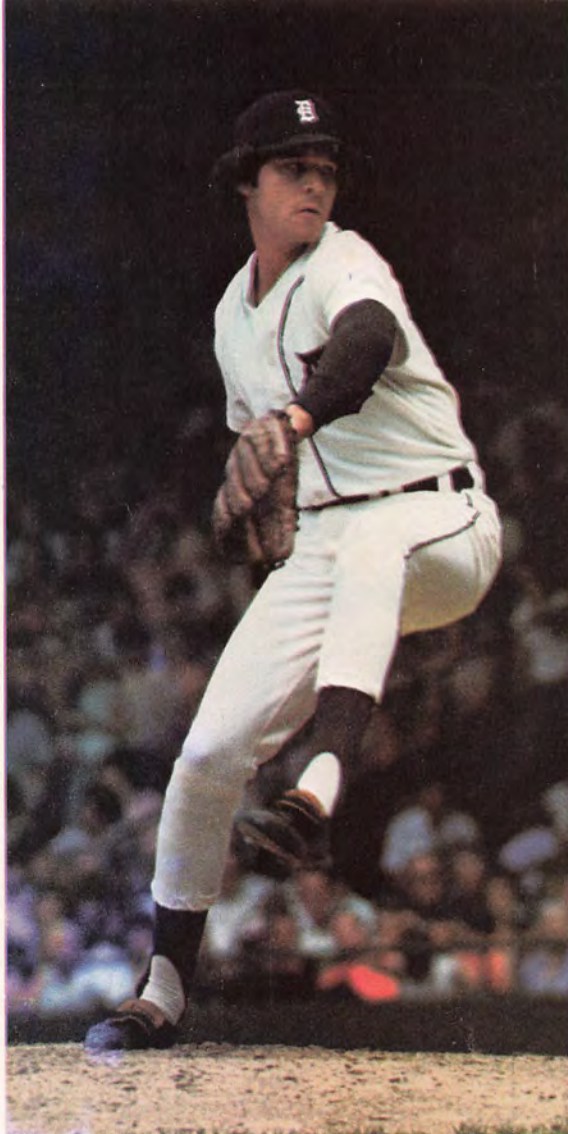

A collegiate All-America slugger at the University of Southern California, Kemp dropped out of school after his junior year to become eligible for the January, 1976 baseball draft.

The Tigers, with the very first pick in that draft, made him their No. 1 choice, handed him a juicy bonus and signed him to a major league contract.

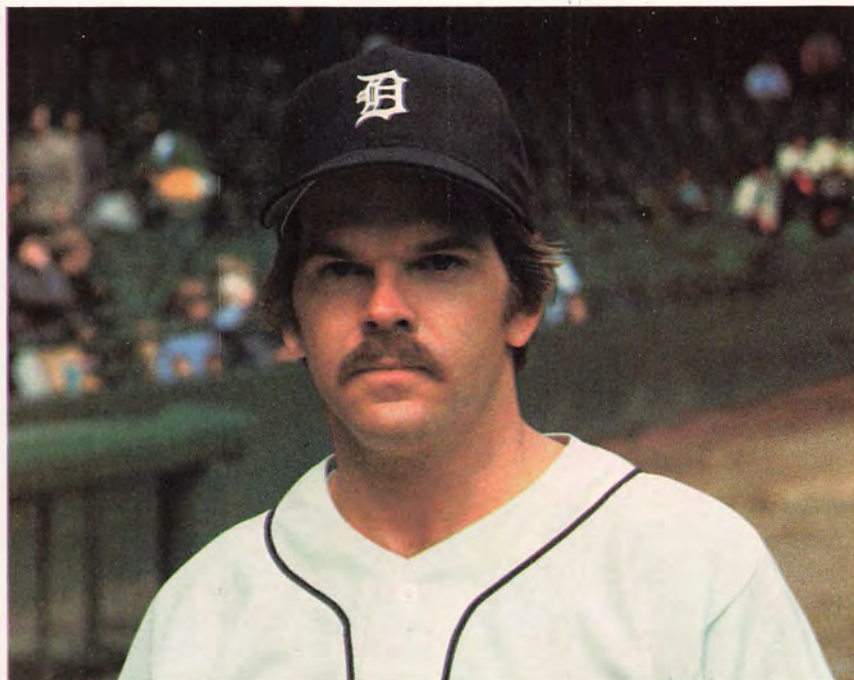

Experts are almost unanimous in their verdict that the young left-handed hitter will succeed. His college coach, Rod Dedeaux, who turned out such other stars as Fred Lynn, calls

Kemp "one of the finest pure hitters I ever saw."

Figures back up the estimate. As a sophomore designated hitter, Kemp had a .351 average. As a junior full-time outfielder, his mark shot up to .435 for a new school record. Kemp then topped off his amateur career with a .395 for the U.S. team in the 1975 Pan-American Games.

Fernando Arroyo

Chuck Scrivener

BACK AGAIN

They Come With Seasoning

Renewing their bids for regular employment at Tiger Stadium after considerable service in the minor leagues are Fernando Arroyo, right-handed pitcher, and Chuck Scrivener, handy man of the infield.

Arroyo was in his sixth minor league campaign when the Tigers brought him up from Evansville for 14 games last July. Following a dozen relief appearances, he got his first start in September and turned it into a victory over the Red Sox which snapped a six-game Tiger losing streak. Arroyo spent the off-season in the Mexican Pacific League, sharpening his wares with good results.

Scrivener, a fine fielder at any infield post, became a key figure in Evansville's 1975 push to the Junior World Series championship with a .251 average and 10 home runs. That resulted in an invitation to join the Tigers for a late-season trial which was brief but impressive.

Bill Slayback

Dave Lemanczyk

POPULAR PAIR

Adding Depth on Right Side

Two of the more-familiar faces among the 10 right-handers on the Tigers' spring roster are Bill Slayback and Dave Lemanczyk, both favorites of Tiger fans.

Slayback, signed in 1968, spent all of the 1975 season helping Evansville win the American Association and Junior World Series titles, but has had three hitches with the Tigers, including the entire 1974 season. He is best remembered for his major league debut in 1972 when he held the Yankees hitless for seven innings and won, 4-3, with relief help. The talented Californian sings, plays guitar, writes music and paints as off-diamond hobbies.

Lemanczyk was with the Tigers all of 1975, primarily in long relief duty while starting six times in his first full major league season. Signed in 1972, Lemanczyk reached the majors in less than a year but returned to the minors before getting a second chance in 1974 when he turned his first major league start into his first major league victory.

Bruce Kimm

John Wockenfuss

BEHIND PLATE

They Bolster Backstopping

Depth in the Tigers' catching is provided by Bruce Kimm and John Wockenfuss, both acquired by way of minor league trades.

Kimm, a strong-armed receiver with outstanding skill handling pitchers was promoted to the Tigers' major league roster after hitting .280 at Evansville in 1974; returned there in 1975 for another impressive performance. First signed by the White Sox in 1969, Kimm was traded to the Angels at the close of 1972, then to the Tigers the following spring — all at the minor league level.

Wockenfuss, another rifle-arm with power at the plate, spent parts of the 1974-75 seasons with the Tigers. He was originally signed in 1967 by Washington as an infielder; became a catcher in 1972; was traded to the Cardinals in 1973, then to the Tigers in 1974 — also in minor league transactions.

Jerry Manuel

Bob Molinaro

PAYOFF DUE

High Draft Choices Ready

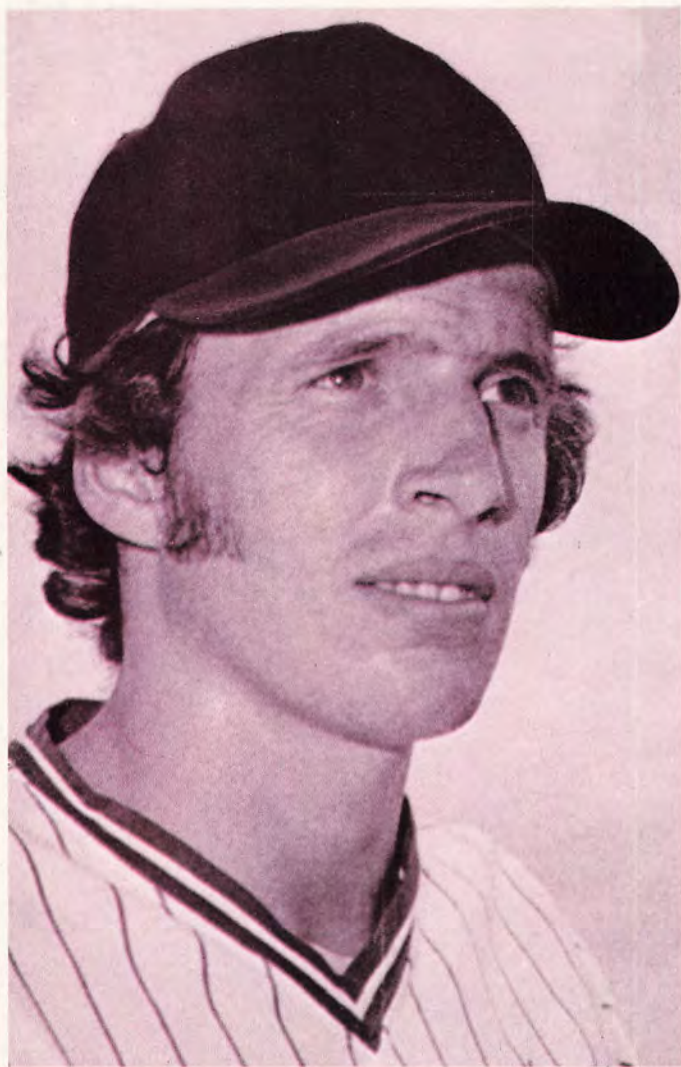

Jerry Manuel and Bob Molinaro are in a position to make a pair of the Tigers' high draft picks pay off.

Manuel, a slender infielder from California, was the club's No. 1 selection in the June, 1972 free agent draft. In less than two years, he was starring at Evansville, where he was known as the best second baseman in the American Association. After helping the Triplets to their 1975 Junior World Series title, Manuel got into a half-dozen games with the Tigers at the close of the season.

pick in the June, 1968 draft. He went back on the Tiger roster this spring for the fourth time after a three-year lapse, during which he worked his average at Evansville up to .287 with 13 home runs and 75 RBI in 1975. He, too, had a brief time with the Tigers after the Triplets' championship campaign.

Steve Grilli

Bruce Taylor

HELP ON WAY

Relief Is Their Long Suit

The Tigers' persistent search for bullpen assistance puts the spotlight on two diverse hurlers in Steve Grilli and Bruce Taylor.

Grilli, who was signed in 1970 after slipping through the draft that June, was primarily a starting pitcher until 1975 when he became the relief ace of Evansville's championship drive, winning 11 games, saving 12 and posting a 3.01 ERA for 44 games, all but one in relief. That earned him a late-season Tiger Stadium trial in which he gave up only one earned run in seven innings of relief work.

Taylor, submarining righthander, was drafted last winter from the Cincinnati Reds' farm club at Indianapolis, chiefly because of the impressive relief work he did against Evansville in their American Association meetings. Signed by the Reds in 1973, Taylor has not started a game in his last two seasons, only seven in the 158 games of his three-year minor league career. His 55 Indianapolis appearances last season resulted in eight wins, five saves and a 2.22 ERA.

Mark Fidrych

Frank MacCormack

SIZZLERS

Kids Zip to Top in Hurry

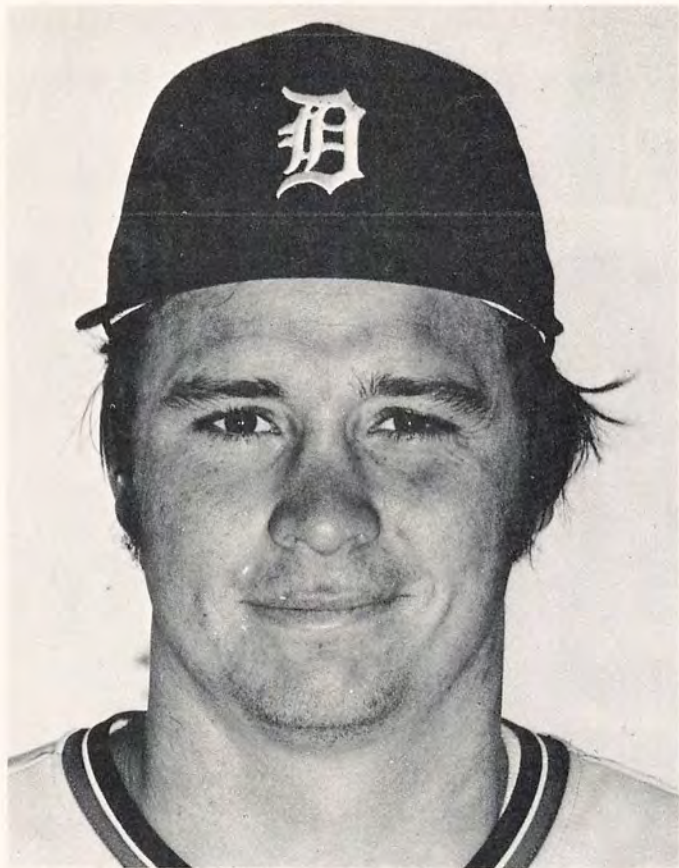

Two of the most-highly regarded pitching prospects among all of the Tigers' young players are the righthanders Mark Fidrych and Frank MacCormack.

Fidrych, an enthusiastic free spirit known as "The Bird" (as in "Sesame Street"), combines color with class on the mound — running to and from his position, talking to the ball before he delivers it, shaking hands with a teammate making a good play behind him. The Massachusetts youngster blazed his way from the bottom to the top of the Tiger farm system in two years to get his non-roster trial in 1975 spring training.

MacCormack, from New Jersey, considers himself the most-rejected player in the game: passed up in the 1971 draft, turned down at Rutgers, spurned at a Florida baseball school and ignored in a Yankee tryout camp. Finally spotted in a 1973 semi-pro league, he gladly signed a non-bonus contract with the Tigers. Two years in the minors sped him to the top and a 1975 non-roster spring trial.

Honors AND Fun, Too

The Tigers are not ones to overlook their heroes, present or past. There was Recognition Day last September for five veterans who had played 10 years or more with great distinction at Tiger Stadium. In the pre-game lineup of dignitaries above, from left: General Manager Jim Campbell, Mayor Coleman A. Young, Mickey Stanley, Gates Brown, Mickey Lolich, Bill Freehan, Owner John E. Fetzer, Willie Horton and Lee MacPhail, American League president.

There also was 75th Season Salute in July, when Eddie Onslow, at microphone (left) with Ernie Harwell, was honored as representative of five living members of 1912 team in search for Oldest Living Tiger. The 82-year-old slugger from Scio, Ohio, later enjoyed comedy enactment of "Casey at the Bat," staged by Tiger alumni. At plate below is Billy Bruton; catcher is Joe Ginsberg.

Ballot box stuffing is no offense when it's time to pick starters for All-Star Game and this pretty fan is well-stocked with ballots to cast for her Tiger favorites. Nearly 7 1/2 million votes were counted in last year's national poll; total may go higher in 1976 tabulation.

Look at those shiny helmets, gifts of the Tigers on Free Helmet Day for youngsters 14 or under on full-price tickets. Also on 1976 Gift Days list are Free Jacket Day, brand new event, and Free Bat Day, perennially popular with fans.

When Tiger fans see layouts like this, they stop, look and shop. This display, by Merle Distributing Co. for Sears stores, pushed Jo Falls' history of Tigers, which will be on sale again in 1976.

Congratulations to the Tigers on their 75th Anniversary

Don't strike out! Make the team.... Go Navy.

If you haven't got a skill, you probably won't get to first base. That's where the Navy can help. With big league training in over 70 career fields. Like electronics. Radio communication. Aviation structural mechanics. Computers. And many more, depending on what you want and what you qualify for. You'll have to hustle to earn your keep. But that's always the way when you make the first team. And along the way, there'll be time to travel, make some good friends...and earn the best pay and benefits in Navy history. If a challenging, rewarding career is what you've been looking for...look to the Navy. And come in for a tryout. We'll tell you the score even before you enlist.

Tigers' First 75 Seasons: A Review Of the Past

Few teams are able to match the traditions and records of the Tigers, who have been members of the American League ever since it gained major league recognition in 1901 and who have won their full share of recognition on the field and at the gate as a real power of the circuit.

From Ty Cobb to Al Kaline, they have produced stars of Hall of Fame stature . . . set records for generations of newcomers to challenge . . . attracted turnouts which are the envy of all.

In the next several pages of this Tiger Yearbook, fans will find a detailed listing of those records and a complete roll call of the men who made them.

Greatest Tigers Ever

While baseball was celebrating, in a national campaign, its 100th anniversary in 1969, the fans in Detroit elected these players as the Greatest Tigers Ever — man-for-man at their regular playing positions. Living members of the group were saluted at Tiger Stadium.

SOME FACTS ABOUT TIGER STADIUM

The official maximum capacity of Tiger Stadium is 54,226 seats. Recently revised figures list 10,341 box seats; 23,322 reserved; 9,352 unreserved grandstand and 11,211 bleacher seats. However, for baseball, bleacher seat sales are limited to 10,000 for a normal baseball capacity of 53,015.

Baseball has been played at the site since 1900, a year before the American League was born with the Tigers as a charter member. Known as Bennett Park at the time, it became Navin Field in 1912, Briggs Stadium in 1938 and Tiger Stadium Jan. 1, 1961.

More than 15,000 square yards of sod are needed to surface the playing area. Sprinkling and drainage facilities are among the best and the latest-type field cover can be placed in less than a minute.

AREA — Stadium grounds and parking lot cover 8½ acres. Playing field occupies approximately half of total area.

LIGHTING — Eight towers, 1,428 lamps of 1,500 watts each. Installed in 1948.

DUGOUTS — Connected with clubhouses by tunnels, visitors on first base side, home club on third base side. Depressed, dugout-type bleepers new in 1963.

CONCESSIONS — Operated by Detroit Sportservice, Inc.

HEIGHTS — From ground to facing of upper deck, 34 feet. Ground to first tier of third deck pressbox, 82 feet. Ground to roof of third deck pressbox level, 94 feet. Ground to top of light towers, 155 feet. Flag pole in center field is 125 feet.

DETROIT IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Detroit was member of National League from 1881 through 1888; dropped out of majors until 1901, to return as charter member of American League.

Tigers of 1887 won National League pennant by 3½ games, engaged St. Louis champions of American Association, in 15-game post-season series which was forerunner of World Series. Detroit won 10 of 15 games in cross-country tour.

FOUR TIGER TEAMS IN 100 CLUB

Four Tiger teams have won 100 or more games in a season — and two of them failed to win pennants. Hughie Jennings' 1915 Tigers (100-54) finished 2½ games behind the Red Sox and Bob Scheffing's 1961 club (101-61) was eight lengths behind the Yankees, piloted by Ralph Houk. The 1934 Bengals (101-53), managed by Mickey Cochrane won a pennant but lost the World Series to the Cardinals. Mayo Smith's 1968 Tigers (103-59) went all the way and defeated St. Louis for the World Championship.

Hall of Fame Tigers

When the first stars were picked for the Baseball Hall of Fame, 222 of the 226 voters named Ty Cobb.
The Tiger immortal has since been joined by eight more the Tigers call their own, plus several with more-or-less brief time in Detroit.

FETZER 10TH TIGER CHIEF

John E. Fetzer, sole owner of the Tigers since Nov. 14, 1961, is the 10th in line to hold the position of top executive. The nationally-prominent television-radio executive, with holdings in Michigan, Nebraska and Iowa, has taken an increasingly-active role in baseball administration since entering the game in 1956 as head of a syndicate purchasing the Tigers from the estate of the late W. O. Briggs. He currently is a member of the major league Executive Council and chairman of the American League planning committee.

Charter president of the Tigers when the American League won major status in 1901 was James D. Burns, also sheriff of Wayne County. In succeeding years, the post has been held by Samuel F. Angus (1902-1903), William H. Yawkey (1904-1906), Frank J. Navin (1907-1935), Walter O. Briggs (1936-1951), Walter O. Briggs, Jr. (1952-1956), Fred A. Knorr (1956), Harvey R. Hansen (1957-1959), William DeWitt (1960), and Fetzer since Oct. 11, 1960.

ONLY FOUR TEAMS TOP TIGERS

Only four teams in the American League enter the 1976 season with total-victory margins over the Tigers: Baltimore Orioles at 235-225, Boston Red Sox 785-783, Minnesota Twins 119-109 and New York Yankees 800-734. The Tigers hold these margins over the other teams: California 132-95, Chicago 783-745, Cleveland 793-776, Kansas City 46-38, Milwaukee 66-42 (inc. Seattle 1969), Oakland 204-156 (inc. Kansas City 1955-67), and Texas 854-696 (inc. Washington 1901-71).

MORE GAMES FOR TIGERS

The Tigers have played more games than any other franchise in the American League — 11,625 including ties and replays. They enter the 1976 season with 5,975 victories to their credit. Only the New York Yankees have won more games — 6,519 (inc. 1901-02, when the franchise was in Baltimore).

TIGERS IN WORLD SERIES

1907 — Chicago 4 games, Detroit 0 (Plus 12-inn. tie)

Manager Frank Chance's National League champions by 17½-game margin were easy winners over Hughie Jennings' tired Tigers, who nosed out Philadelphia by six points in bitter finishing drive. Tiger morale suffered when Catcher Charlie Schmidt failed to hold 9th-inning third strike which would have ended first game on winning note. Darkness brought 3-3 tie in 12 innings and Cubs, who stole 18 bases during series, went on to well-deserved triumph.

1908 — Chicago 4 games, Detroit 1

History repeated as Frank Chance's hard-hitting Cubs, one-game National League winners over New York, easily handled Hughie Jennings' Tigers, last-day victors over Chicago in American League. Tigers scored 15 runs in first three games, then were shut out twice. George Mullin won Detroit's only victory in third game with help of four hits by Ty Cobb.

1909 — Pittsburgh 4 games, Detroit 3

First World Series going limit was taken by Fred Clarke's Pirates when Babe Adams, unheralded rookie, surprisingly won three decisions over Hughie Jennings' battling Tigers as two teams alternated in winning. Honus Wagner batted .333 for Pirates in duel with Ty Cobb, who hit .231 in his last World Series. Bill Abstein, Pirate first baseman, fanned 10 times and was fired as soon as series ended.

1934 — St. Louis 4 games, Detroit 3

Tigers qualified with first American League pennant in 25 years under Mickey Cochrane's aggressive management but were nosed out by Frank Frisch's Cardinals in bitter series marked by final-game row in which Commissioner Landis removed Joe Medwick from game when Detroit fans showered field with garbage following Medwick's collision with Marv Owen, Tiger third baseman. Dean brothers, Dizzy and Paul, won two games each for Cards; Charlie Gehringer hit .379 for Tigers and Pepper Martin .355 for Cards.

1935 — Detroit 4 games, Chicago 2

Tigers won first World Championship under Mickey Cochrane's direction, vanquishing Charlie Grimm's Cubs despite loss of Hank Greenberg with broken wrist in third game. Tommy Bridges scored two mound victories, Alvin Crowder and Schoolboy Rowe one each for Tigers. In final game, Cochrane scored winning run on Goose Goslin's single, throwing delirious Detroit fans into wild celebration lasting all night.

1940 — Cincinnati 4 games, Detroit 3

Bill McKechnie's Reds, easy winners in regular season, gave National League its first World Series triumph since 1934 by edging out Del Baker's Tigers, next-to-last day pennant winners in American League. Bobo Newsom won twice for Tigers, despite father's death in Cincinnati hotel following first game, but lost finale while pitching with one day's rest. Tommy Bridges won other Detroit victory, Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters took two each for Reds.

1945 — Detroit 4 games, Chicago 3

Steve O'Neill's Tiger's, last-game pennant winners on grand slam homer by Hank Greenberg, just back from army, continued World Series hex over Charlie Grimm's Cubs in wartime atmosphere. Hank Borowy pitched shutout and Claude Passeau had one-hitter for Cubs but Hal Newhouse fanned 22 in series and won twice for Tigers. Greenberg had two homers, three doubles among his seven hits in series.

1968 — Detroit 4 games, St. Louis 3

After losing three of first four games, Mayo Smith's Tigers stormed back for three straight over Red Schoendienst's Cardinals as Mickey Lolich won three games. Al Kaline got chance in his first World Series after 16 years with Tigers when Smith broke up regular outfield by moving Mickey Stanley to shortstop to make room for Kaline. Denny McLain, Tigers' 31-game regular season winner, lost opening game when Bob Gibson fanned 17; split two later decisions.

TIGERS IN CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

1972 — Oakland 3 games, Detroit 2

Billy Martin's battling Tigers lost first two games to Dick Williams' A's at Oakland, won next two at Detroit but finally bowed by one run as American League got its first five-game championship. Tight pitching marked series with two shutouts and other three games decided by one run. Bert Campaneris, of A's, was fined and suspended at start of following season for throwing bat at Lerrin LaGrow when hit on ankle by Tiger pitcher in second game.

HOW THEY GOT THEIR NAME

Research reveals that the nickname "Tigers" first was applied to the Detroit baseball club in 1895 — a year earlier than previously reported.

Baseball historians initially credited Philip J. Reid, city editor of the Detroit Evening News, with first using the name in print in 1896. However, George Stallings, manager of the Detroit team which was then a member of the Western League, took credit for the move which resulted in the nickname when he put his players in black-and-brown striped stockings which, he said, reminded the fans of "tiger stripes."

New evidence makes it appear that an unidentified headline writer at the Detroit Free Press actually originated the Tiger nickname in 1895, a year before Stallings became manager and before the team was wearing striped stockings.

In its early years, the team was simply called "Detroit," "the Detroits," sometimes the "Wolverines" (a name more familiarly associated with the University of Michigan) and at times the "Creams."

The "Creams" broke into print in 1894, the year Detroit entered the Western League under the ownership of G. A. Van Derbeck, a transient from Los Angeles. A writer of the time derisively referred to his aggregation as "what is purported to be the cream of California baseball players" — which may account for the name.

Then on April 16, 1895, the Free Press printed a headline over a baseball story which read: "Strouthers' Tigers Showed Up Very Nicely." On the same page, a string of baseball notes was headed: "Notes of the Detroit Tigers of 1895." Curiously, not once in either story was the word "Tigers" used.

From then on, the Free Press fairly regularly called them the "Tigers" and in May, 1895, the Sporting Life began using "Tigers" in its dispatches from Detroit. However, up to July 1, 1895, careful search of the files discloses that neither the Detroit Evening News nor its Sunday paper, the News-Tribune, had used "Tigers."

Thus it seems that the Detroit Free Press must get credit for originating the Tiger nickname in 1895.

HOME RUNS OVER ROOF

Between 1938, when Tiger Stadium was rebuilt along its present lines, and 1956 only one home run was hit over the roof. That was delivered by Ted Williams in 1939, his rookie season in the American League.

Since 1956, the total has been pushed to 13, with 11 over the right field roof and two over the more-distant left field roof.

A number of other blows would have cleared the roof if the ball had not hit one of the light standards and bounced back to the playing field. Most notable in that category was hit by Reggie Jackson during the 1971 All-Star Game (July 13). It is estimated the ball would have travelled more than 600 feet if it had not hit the transformer housing on the light tower on the roof above the 370-foot mark.

The 1969 roof-clearing homer credited to Jim Northrup bounced back on the field — but only after clearing the top of the roof before striking an obstruction on the other side.

Fans recall a number of long home runs hit out of the stadium before it was remodelled into a complete double-decker. The most historic of these was the 700th home run of Babe Ruth's career on July 13, 1934. The ball cleared a wall in right field and rolled nearly two blocks down Plum Street, to be retrieved some 800-850 feet from home plate by a youngster who received a $20 bill (borrowed from a teammate) for returning the ball to The Bambino.

TIGERS TRIPLE-PLAY KINGS

The Tigers can claim the triple play championship of the major leagues, according to Raymond J. Gonzalez, a baseball statistician from Woodside, N.Y., who has tracked down every triple play made since 1900.

His report shows the Tigers have made 30, followed by the Pirates 27, Cardinals 26, Indians, Red Sox and Cubs 25 each.

The Tigers of 1908 made two triple plays (both against the Red Sox) to start the historic run of three-ply killings and the 1911 Tigers had three to their credit.

Most recent on the books for the Tigers was July 15, 1969 at Washington. Ed Brinkman, who later played with the Tigers, was the Senators' batter in the mass wipeout, which was executed by Don Wert, Ike Brown and Bill Freehan.

Join the Pepsi People feelin' free!

Pepsi People, feelin' free. You see 'em everywhere. On the baseball diamond, on a picnic, or on a lunch hour. And you recognize 'em as Pepsi People because they're livin' a little more than anyone else around. Pepsi-Cola didn't make 'em what they are—they made Pepsi what it is. The official drink of people who make the most of everyday livin' . . . every day.
